Buildings Named for People:

Albert B. Alkek Library—This stately travertine marble structure that became SWT's fifth Library in 1991 pays tribute to Texas oilman, rancher, and philanthropist Albert B. Alkek.

M. L. Arnold Hall—Residence hall built in 1957 and named after SWT's third faculty Ph.D.

Sallie Beretta Hall—Dorm built in 1947 and named after the second woman appointed to the State Teachers College Board of Regents, Sallie Beretta, who served on the Board from 1933 to 1951. One of SWT's early benefactors, Beretta gave the school 125 acres on the Blanco River near Wimberley, known by generations as University Camp.

Mary Brogdon Hall—Woman's dorm built in 1947 and named after SWT's legendary dean of women.

James R. Buckner Hall—Residence hall constructed in 1966 and named for longtime Spanish professor.

Lucy Burlson Hall—Built in 1951 and named after the school's first librarian, one of the original seventeen faculty members.

Mary Stuart Butler Hall—Completed in 1965 and named for another of SWT's original seventeen faculty members.

Leland E. Derrick Hall—Completed in 1972, this academic classroom building honors a former SWT English professor, Graduate School dean, and two-time acting president. The building was named for Derrick in 1980.

Claude Elliott Hall—Built in 1962, this dorm honors SWT alumnus who served as a history professor and long-time faculty member. He was SWT's first dean of the Graduate School.

Evans Liberal Arts Building—Reopened in 1986 after extensive reconstruction from Evans Academic Center, which was originally built in 1939, this structure pays tribute to SWT's second president, Cecil Eugene Evans.

Elizabeth Falls Hall—Built in 1966, this residence hall honors an Education faculty member.

John Garland Flowers Hall—Fully renovated and rededicated in 1994, Flowers Hall honors SWT's third president. When Flowers Hall was built in 1935, it was the school's second library. It was renamed for Flowers after his death in 1965.

Harold M. Freeman Aquatic Biology Building, as well as the 3,485-acre Freeman Ranch, get their names from prominent businessman and rancher Harold M. Freeman. The ranch was placed in the university's hands through a perpetual trust established by Freeman. The building was dedicated in 1983.

Thomas G. Harris Dining Hall—Built in 1987, this facility was named in honor of SWT's first president. The original structure that carried Harris' name—Harris Hall, built in 1938 with its annex added in 1956—was torn down in the mid-1980s to make way for additional construction.

Lula Lee Hines Academic Center—The reconstruction of Hines Gymnasium honors another of SWT's original seventeen faculty members and houses Aerospace Studies and the Criminal Justice Department.

Helen Hornsby Hall—Originally built as a women's co-op hall in 1951, this building honors another of the original seventeen.

Ernest B. Jackson Hall—This twelve-story residence "tower" was built in 1967 and recognizes SWT's first professional librarian.

J. C. Kellam Building—Administration Building constructed in 1969 on what was once the oldest federal fish hatchery west of the Mississippi River. Originally named the Library-Administration Building, the name was changed to honor SWT distinguished alumnus and longtime Texas

State College System Regent Jesse C. Kellam. Kellam served on the Board from 1961 to 1977.

Lyndon B. Johnson Student Center--Opened in 1998, the magnificent LBJ Student Center's name was carried over from the old student center.

Clem C. Jones Dining Hall—Named in honor of the SWT registrar who was killed with several members of his family in an automobile accident in 1964.

Milton W. Jowers Center—Built in 1979, this combination academic, athletic, and student recreation facility honors longtime coach and athletic director Milton Jowers, a Distinguished Alumnus Award recipient who received his bachelor's degree from SWT in 1935.

J. Lloyd Read Hall—Built in 1965, Read Hall honors longtime head of Modern Languages.

Sewell Park—Named in honor of Dr. S. M. Sewell, patron saint of the river and Mathematics professor, this is a showpiece located on the San Marcos River.

Smith Hall—This residence hall built in 1957 pays tribute to Science Professor C. Spurgeon Smith, who is credited with first recommending that the bobcat be adopted as SWT's mascot.

Elizabeth Sterry Hall—Built in 1967, this women's dorm honored Miss Elizabeth Sterry, associate professor of Geography who was recognized for conducting summer field trips to Europe.

Oscar W. Strahan Coliseum, which opened in 1982, was named in honor of legendary "Oskie" Strahan who became SWT's first professional coach in 1919.

Taylor-Murphy History Building—Built as the Fine Arts Building in 1951, this facility was renovated and became the home of the Department of History in the mid-1980s. At that time, revered History Professors James Taylor and Retta Murphy were honored jointly by its renaming.

Gone but Not Forgotten

Over the years, these facilities named after locally prominent faculty and staff have been tom down to make way for new construction:

C. E. Evans Field—The old football field located in the spot that is now the Coliseum Parking Lot, across from Strahan Coliseum, was home to the Bobcat football and track teams, the marching band and even to commencement ceremonies. It was replaced by Bobcat Stadium.

Harris Hall, noted above, was built in 1938 and named in honor of first President Thomas G. Hams. The Harris Hall Annex was added in 1957. Both were tom down to make way for new construction in the mid-1980s.

Alma Lueders Hall—Named in memory of Modern Languages teacher Alma Lueders, this building was tom down after it was declared structurally unsound in 1982. It was located at the site where the current Chemistry Building now stands and housed the Library after it moved from Old Main.

Jesse Sayers Hall—Tom down to make way for construction of the old Lyndon B. Johnson Memorial Student Center and the new Education Building, which opened in 1977. Miss Sayers was another of SWT's first seventeen faculty members and is credited with writing the lyrics to the "Alma Mater."

H. E. Speck Hall—This dorm honored longtime Dean of Men H. E. Speck. It was tom down in 1986 to make way for the new Library.

Thomas Hall—Built in 1957 and demolished in the mid-1980s, this dorm honored Gates Thomas who became head of the English Department in 1909. It too was tom down to make space for the Alkek Library.
